The game is fantastic nevertheless it is one of the best games available. It's really good that everyone who can play can play and win. If i were to download a game like this all i would ever do would be try to play it first so i can win and see if i like it enough to install. If i like it i'll install it. If i do then i will do the same thing every time. Overall i think this is the perfect game to get if your looking for a good way to pass time... ", KaraFun. Evaluation of the relationship between serum levels of high-sensitive C-reactive protein (hs-CRP) and the metabolic syndrome in healthy elderly men and women. The metabolic syndrome (MS) is a cluster of interrelated abnormalities which confer an increased risk of cardiovascular disease, type 2 diabetes, and atherosclerosis. CRP is a sensitive marker for the activity of the innate immune system and is also an acute-phase reactant produced by hepatocytes. The aim of this study was to evaluate the relationship between serum levels of high-sensitive C-reactive protein (hs-CRP) and the presence of the MS in healthy elderly men and women. In this cross-sectional study, 150 healthy subjects (80 men and 70 women, aged >60 years), not previously diagnosed as having MS, were evaluated. They completed a general questionnaire, physical examination, and blood sampling. The following blood variables were measured: total cholesterol, HDL-C, LDL-C, triglyceride, HbA1c, uric acid, hs-CRP. The blood pressure was also measured. Fasting blood glucose was measured only in the laboratory. The subjects were divided into two groups, according to the presence of MS or not. Ninety-seven (65.3%) individuals were classified as MS free, and 53 (34.7%) had one or more MS components. The age, waist circumference, systolic blood pressure, diastolic blood pressure, HbA1c, fasting blood glucose, and cholesterol levels were significantly higher in the MS group than in the non-MS group (p 0.05).
